Practice writing sight words using shaving cream, chalk, markers, magnetic letters, etc.	Practice blends (pl, bl, cr, st, sp, nd, mp, ft, etc.) Make a list of blends you want to work on. Use a magazine and cut out pictures of objects that start or end with that blend.	Help your parents write a grocery/packing/ things to do list. Try your best to tap out the words to spell. Read this list to a family member.	Check out a poetry book from an online library. Write down any rhyming words you find, then list more words that rhyme. After you finish reading the poem, draw a picture to visualize it!	Go on a word hunt using a newspaper or magazine. Find short vowel words and highlight/color/circle them.	Read two books. Compare and contrast the books. How are they different? How are they the same?
Make an autobiography. This can be a great gift for your new teacher!	Choose a passage of 100 words from one of the Summer Learning Kit books. Set a timer for one minute and read the passage. Record how many words you read accurately. Repeat 5 times and graph your results.	Write a letter to a friend/family member that tells about something you have done this summer.	Build the setting of a favorite story using blocks, Legos, etc.	Create a portrait of a main character in a book you just read. You should be able to describe one of his/ her character traits from the portrait.	Write a "How-To" piece on the topic "How to Swim."
